

A pooled rate hides the spread: the shipped test is complete on simple cells and misses a third of the faults on the most complex one

